Brand Guide

A soft place to land for kids 0–7.

This guide captures the visual and verbal identity of Wonderland Playhouse as it lives in the product today. Use it to keep new pages, emails, signage, social posts, and partner collateral on tone. Every value here was pulled from the source of truth: the website codebase.

Wordmark.

The brand leads with a typographic wordmark set in Georgia (or its serif fallback). No glyph or mascot is required. Pair the wordmark with the location qualifier when context is unclear, separated by a middle dot.

Wonderland Playhouse

DO

— Use Georgia (or Times) bold for the wordmark. ■ — Allow generous breathing room around the lockup. ■ — Reverse to cream on terracotta when on a colored field.

DON'T

— Don't stretch, italicize, or add a drop shadow. ■ — Don't place on a busy photo without a solid plate. ■ — Don't replace Playhouse with abbreviations (no "WPH").

Color.

A four-family palette grounded in terracotta, cream, ink, and sage. Terracotta carries the brand voice; cream is the canvas; ink is for reading; sage handles success and quiet positivity. Use shades for hierarchy, not decoration.

TERRACOTTA SCALE

| 50      | 100     | 200     | 300     | 400     | 500     | 600     | 700     |
|---------|---------|---------|---------|---------|---------|---------|---------|
| #FBF1EA | #F4DAC8 | #EAB69B | #DF916D | #D27E55 | #C66B3D | #A8552E | #7E3F22 |

SUPPORTING TONES

Where each color earns its place.

Color decisions should be rule-driven, not aesthetic-driven. Below: the canonical role for each token and the moment it should appear.

Terracotta · #C66B3D

Primary CTAs, email headers, the wordmark on cream. Use once or twice per screen — it is the loudest thing in the system.

Terracotta 600 · #A8552E

Hover and pressed states. Active link emphasis on cream.

Cream · #FAF6EE

Default page background. The brand reads warm before it reads colorful.

Cream Deep · #F2EAD8

Secondary cards, ticket-code chips, soft dividers between sections.

Ink · #1F1B16

All body type. Used at 100% for reading copy, 80% for supporting text.

Ink Soft · #7A5A3F

Captions, metadata, footer text, uppercase labels.

Sage · #7C8E5C

Confirmation checkmarks, paid badges, anything affirming.

Sage Deep · #5E6E45

Sage on cream for legibility; success links.

ACCESSIBILITY

Terracotta #C66B3D on Cream #FAF6EE clears WCAG AA for large text. For body copy, pair Ink #1F1B16 on Cream.

Cream type belongs on Terracotta or Ink fields only; never cream on cream-deep.

Type.

Two families, used predictably. Georgia (serif) does the talking — headlines, taglines, email body. Helvetica (sans) supports — buttons, labels, metadata. Headings carry a tightened tracking of  $-0.01\text{em}$  to feel composed.

BEFORE THE DAY

Hierarchy & rhythm.

Display headlines

Reserve for hero moments — one per screen. Sentence case. End with a period; the brand speaks in declarative statements.

H1 / H2

Sentence case, never title case. No exclamation points. Tracking  $-0.01\text{em}$ .

Body

Georgia at 12–18pt, line-height 1.6. Use 80% Ink for the main paragraph, 100% Ink for emphasis.

UI labels

Helvetica Medium, 11pt. Sentence case. No icons unless the meaning is otherwise ambiguous.

Eyebrow labels

Helvetica Bold, 9pt, all caps, 0.2em tracking. Use for section eyebrows and uppercase pill labels (e.g. SHOW AT THE DOOR).

Numerals

Ticket codes and confirmation numbers: Helvetica Bold 32pt, 4pt letter-spacing, centered on a Cream Deep card.

PUNCTUATION HOUSE STYLE

— Em dash (—) for asides; no spaces around it in headlines, spaces around it in body. ■ — En dash (–) for ranges: “0–7,” “Mon–Thu.” ■ — Curly quotes always (“soft place to land”). ■ — Avoid exclamation points except in emoji-led subject lines.

Voice.

Warm, direct, parent-fluent. The brand sounds like a friend who runs a great room and tells you the important things first. It never sells; it confirms, explains, and reassures. It trusts you to be busy.

WE ARE Specific. Calm. A little wry.

WE ARE NOT Cutesy. Hype-y. Overcaffeinated. Corporate.

SENTENCE SHAPE Short. Then short again. Then one that explains.

TRADEMARK MOVES Em dashes. Parenthetical warmth. Declarative confirmations.

LINES THAT EARN THEIR KEEP

"A soft place to land for kids 0–7."

"Your date is locked in."

"You're in."

"The whole space is yours."

"Grip socks required (we sell them at the door if you forget)."

"Just you. Closes the space."

Cream-deep card, 12px radius. Code: Helvetica Bold 32pt, 4pt tracking.

Layout.

A narrow, considered column. We let copy breathe so it sounds confident rather than crowded. Containers stay narrow even on wide screens.

Page container max-w-3xl (768px)

Centered with mx-auto, px-6 on mobile.

Reading column max-w-xl (576px)

Used for body paragraphs to keep line length comfortable.

Email container 580px fixed

Inline style on a centered <table>.

Section padding py-24 (96px)

Top and bottom of major page sections.

Inter-section gap gap-8 (32px)

Between stacked blocks within a section.

Inline gap gap-3 (12px)

Between buttons or chips that read as one group.

Border radius 12 / 16 / 20px

lg / xl / 2xl in tailwind. Default to 16px for buttons.

Hover transitions transition (150ms)

Color changes only — no scale or shadow tricks.

WHITESPACE IS A BRAND ASSET

When in doubt, add more space, not more content. Cream around an element does as much identity work as terracotta inside one.

Words we use.

Canonical capitalization and spelling. When in doubt, default to the way these words appear in the site copy.

|                             |                                                                |
|-----------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------|
| Wonderland Playhouse | Full brand name. Never abbreviate.                             |
| Playhouse            | Acceptable second mention within the same paragraph.           |
| Brooklyn             | Location qualifier; include when the audience may not know us. |
| Open Play            | The drop-in service. Title case in headings and labels.        |
| open play            | Lowercase in running prose (“your open play visit”).           |
| Semi-Private         | Hyphenated. Both words capitalized as a package name.          |
| Private              | Capitalized when referring to the package.                     |
| Grip socks           | Sentence case. Required for entry.                             |
| Deposit              | Lowercase. Always 50% of the total.                            |
| Balance due          | Lowercase. The remaining amount.                               |
| Waiver               | Capitalized when used as the named document.                   |
| Discovery call       | Lowercase. Planning conversation before a Private booking.     |
| kids 0–7             | En dash, lowercase “kids”.                                     |
| 4,000 sq ft          | Spelled this way — written-out thousands, lowercase “sq ft.”   |
| Nostrand Ave         | No period after Ave.                                           |
